

Showbiz Productions Celebrates 40 Years of Fun for All

January 9, 2019

Washington, D.C. – Showbiz Productions, a purveyor of casino-themed events in the Washington, DC, and Naples, Florida areas, celebrates 40 years of having fun and doing good. The company provides casino-caliber equipment and a friendly, professional staff to create memorable parties of any size in any venue. One key to Showbiz's success is that its team brings participants off the sidelines and into the action.

"I think that what we do gets people to rediscover the original social network because it gets them out of their handheld devices and communicating and interacting with their friends or colleagues all in the spirit of fun," says Steve Phillips, CEO of Showbiz Productions.

Phillips channels his own background in real casino work to bring authenticity to his mock or just-for-fun casino events, with optional themes that include Roaring 20s, Tropical Cruise, Western, and elegant Monte Carlo décor. Guests receive a chip or funny money that can be customized, and then cashed in for chips and exchanged for prizes at the end of the night. Since no real money is won or lost, the potential audience includes not only corporate events and charity fundraisers, but also family events such as weddings, birthdays, or other special celebrations.

Showbiz Productions has earned industry kudos throughout its 40-year history, most recently with the National Association of Catering Executives, Greater Washington DC Chapter honored the company with the 'Best Corporate Event of the Year' for 2018. The event was the 7th Annual Casino Night for the Washington Capitals professional hockey team, and took place at National Harbor, Maryland.

Operating Showbiz Productions "has given me the opportunity to do well and to do good at the same time. We have raised millions of dollars for many worthwhile charities and endeavors," says Phillips.

"Everyone likes to be a high roller without suffering the consequences. We provide the casino games all in the spirit of fun and camaraderie," he says. As people get absorbed in learning and playing the games, what's important is the interaction and not whether they win or lose.

In honor of the company's 40th anniversary, Showbiz Productions has created a new YouTube video to showcase its history as a pioneer of casino events and continued leadership in the event business.

"The casino games are not a spectator sport, we teach and give everyone the opportunity to be a player," Phillips emphasizes.
